

SEND IN THE BROWNS

To the tune of "Send in the Clowns".

Tony Blair and Gordon Brown are on stage.

TONY: Isn't it rich?
 Are we a pair?
 I've been PM for eight years and I'm losing my hair.

GORDON: Send in the Browns.

TONY: Isn't it crap?
 Don't you agree?
 I've lost two thirds of my majority.

GORDON: Where are the Browns?
 Send in the Browns.

TONY: Who would've thought one little war
 One little instance of being George W's whore
 Would make all the voters so damnably cross?

GORDON: The party's fed up,
 They want a new boss.

TONY: In Bethnal and Bow
 In seats far and near
 They've given my mandate
 A kick in the rear.

GORDON: But where are the Browns?
 There ought to be Browns.

TONY: Well maybe next year.
